CONNECTING TECHNOLOGICAL SOLUTIONS FOR ADVANCED MANUFACTURING

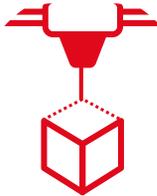

Manufacturing 4.0 is trending and growing rapidly as technologies develop new uses and ways to connect machines to devices, devices to operators, operators to clients, clients to production, and so on, resulting, resulting in the final reality of a fully connected plant.

Industry 4.0 is the new way of organizing production processes using new technologies and devices which autonomously connect to each other throughout the production line. This creates "smart or connected plants," where the needs of the client are better taken care of thanks to production flexibility and resource optimization.

THE CORE ASPECTS OF THIS CONCEPT ARE:

- Big Data and Artificial Intelligence (AI)
- IIoT (Industrial Internet of Things)
- Virtual / Augmented Reality
- Simulation / Customization
- Collaborative Robotics, Cybernetics, Physical and Sensory Systems
- Additive Manufacturing and 3D Printing
- Cyber-Markets
